

Annotated bibliography of print resources on communicating science to the public

Hayes, Richard; Grossman, Daniel. A Scientist's Guide to Talking with the Media: Practical Advice from the Union of Concerned Scientists, Rutgers University Press, New Jersey: (2006), 200p.

Tips for talking to the press about science, with good examples of quotes from real interviews, can be found in Chapter 4: Do You Hear What You're Saying?

- Have students with no research experience interview other students with research experience, or graduate students, or faculty, post-docs, etc. about their research projects. Refer to the activity guide on the following page. Interviewees are encouraged to use the Message Box (links on the Communicating Science to the Public page).
