

Wheel of Fortune

Volunteers at this station will ask visitors questions about demonstrations in the Exploring the Nanoworld area. Visitors who answer the question correctly will spin the wheel of fortune to determine what prize they get. Volunteers will first ask the visitor which demonstration they would like to answer a question on. There will be several questions for each demonstration with varying degrees of difficulty. The volunteer will use his or her judgment, based on the age of the visitor, to determine which question is asked. Answers to all questions will be provided to the volunteer. Prizes on the wheel will be mood rings, carbon nanotube pencils, probe magnets, liquid crystal thermometer magnets, LED flashlights and quadfolds.
